

A fine pair of George III Butter Shells made in London in 1808 by Thomas Pitts II.

Sold

REF: 203596

Description

The Dishes each stand on three winkle feet and the main body is modelled to simulate a scallop shell. The unusually shaped carrying handle has a raised rim and is engraved with a contemporary Crest of a Phoenix rising from the flames. Both are in excellent condition and are very well marked.

Length: 5.9 inches, 14.75cm.

Width: 5.1 inches, 12.75cm

Weight: 10oz.