

A very fine George I Saucepan made in London in 1725 by James Goodwin

Sold

REF: 153635

Height: 2 cm (0.8")

Diameter: 4 cm (1.6")

Description

The Saucepan stands on a reeded spreading foot and the main body is plain in design with flared sides. This example has an attractive turned fruit wood handle and the tubular silver section of the handle is attached to the main body with a rectangular moulding. The base is well marked and the interior displays original hammer marks from when it was raised. This piece is in excellent condition and is of an attractive form.
