

A very fine Irish Serving Slice made in Dublin in 1844 by John Warren

Sold

REF: 135370

Description

The Slice is made in the fiddle pattern and the top of the stem is engraved with a contemporary Crest. The blade is most beautifully pierced and engraved with two fish motifs, surrounded by pluming scroll engraving. The slice is fully marked on the reverse of the handle and most unusually with the duty mark and Hibernia on the blade. This piece is of an exceptional weight and is in excellent condition.

Length: 12.75 inches.
